Disability Access Map

Accessible Campus Entrances

Columbia is committed to fostering a campus that is increasingly accessible to people with disabilities. Each year Columbia removes physical barriers and makes significant accessibility improvements. This map is intended to serve as a guide to the accessibility of the campus. Please understand that this map is subject to change based on structural developments and improvements throughout the campus.

Visitor Accommodations

Visitors, guests, and members of the public who require disability access or accommodations for a Columbia event should contact Disability Services at 212-854-2388 or disability@columbia.edu at least 10 days in advance of the event to arrange such access or accommodations.

Shuttle Bus Service

Columbia University provides a network of shuttle buses among the Morningside campus, Lamont, Studebaker, the Medical Center, Harlem Hospital, and the George Washington Bridge Bus Terminal. Shuttle service is available to all Columbia University affiliates with a valid University ID, free of charge. The Intercampus and Studebaker shuttles are wheelchair accessible. Wheelchair accessible transportation to and from Lamont-Doherty can be arranged through the Transportation Office. For additional information, including route and schedule information, please call the Transportation Office at 212-854-3382 or visit <http://transportation.columbia.edu>.

Library Access Services

Columbia University provides services and programs to patrons with disabilities. Services for individuals with disabilities include library orientations, catalog assistance, accessible photocopy machines, retrieval services from the stacks or other locations, lockers, loan renewal via telephone, and the ability to designate a deputy borrower. The University works with patrons on an individual basis to assess their individual accommodation needs. For information, patrons should contact the Libraries Disability Services liaison at 212-854-3536.

Vertical Transportation

There are wheelchair lifts and elevators on campus that are exclusively designated for disability access. Prior authorization is required to use these lifts and elevators. For this authorization, students should contact Disability Services; faculty and staff should contact Leave Management. Visitors should alert a Public Safety Officer upon arrival on campus.

Columbia University Public Safety

The Columbia University Department of Public Safety is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to assist guests and visitors with outdoor access to the different levels of the campus. The Department will also assist guests and visitors with access within campus buildings, subject to each building's hours of operation. To arrange for assistance, visitors should call the Low Public Safety desk at 212-854-2797 or request help from the guards stationed 24 hours a day at both West 116th Street and Broadway and West 116th Street and Amsterdam or from any other Public Safety officer they may encounter.

To report an elevator outage, nonoperating automatic door opener, or the need for snow removal, please contact Columbia University Facilities Management at 212-854-2222.

Campus Operations and Disability Services provide access service alerts for issues impacting campus accessible routes, including elevator/lift outages and ramp closures for administrative or academic buildings on the Morningside campus and undergraduate residence halls. To view current service alerts and subscribe, visit https://facilities.columbia.edu/service_alerts.

Disability Services

Disability Services (DS) coordinates accommodations and support services for students with disabilities. Disability Services also seeks to facilitate access to all programs and activities for individuals with disabilities visiting Columbia University. Disability Services' approach is consistent with the spirit of the Americans with Disabilities Act and places an emphasis on ability and independence. Further, DS strives to cultivate a campus culture that is sensitive and responsive to individuals with disabilities. For additional information, please contact Disability Services at 212-854-2388 or disability@columbia.edu.

Leave Management

Leave Management provides assistance to faculty and staff with permanent or temporary medical conditions, including explaining benefits and procedures relating to workplace accommodations and medical leaves of absence, and arranging reasonable and appropriate workplace accommodations in coordination with the employee's department. For more information, employees should call 212-851-0698 or email leavemanagement@columbia.edu. Information is also available on the Human Resources website: humanresources.columbia.edu/content/workplace-accommodations.

Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action

Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action (EOAA) has overall responsibility for the University's Equal Opportunity and Nondiscrimination Policies on disability and has been designated to coordinate compliance activities under these policies and the applicable federal, state, and local laws. For information or assistance, please call 212-854-5511 or visit <http://www.columbia.edu/cu/vpaa/eoaa/>.
